eBay

eBay is an American multinational corporation and e-commerce company providing consumer-to-consumer and business-to-consumer sales services via the Internet. With over 162 million active buyers and 800 million live listings, eBay is a multibillion-dollar business, with operations in over 30 countries.

"The Chief Information Officer's (CIO) office is the heart of eBay," says Amit Bali, Release Manager Enterprise Application and QA Test Lead.

"We are the gatekeepers of the production system," adds Andras Vermes, Quality & Release Services Manager. "We support all teams so they can move their projects and initiatives into production."

SharePoint Wasn't Working

Before Plutora, eBay used SharePoint for almost three years.

"We used a basic SharePoint form to capture data," says Bali. "We couldn't view environment conflicts, or see how releases impacted on systems."

"It was almost chaos," says Vermes.

"We used Excel to figure out our KPIs," says Bali. "We used a lot of manual processes and it was time consuming and unproductive. Plutora gives eBay live metrics, and I can duplicate a new release from an old one and drastically reduce the work. That simply wasn't possible with SharePoint, it was not the right tool."

People Like Plutora

eBay offers Plutora to a wide user base, including Project Managers, Technical Leads, and support personnel.

"Plutora lets all our people use a single platform," says Bali. "I make sure our teams are giving me everything I need to approve their releases and I reach out to teams every day. Plutora is good for team interaction. My 5 GB email inbox used to be flooded with emails, but now we use comments in Plutora instead."

Plutora has streamlined the way eBay works. "Let's say a release is coming," says Bali. "All our teams are working on different activities. We use Plutora to give them the milestones, activities and criteria they need. This way, nothing becomes a bottleneck. We now have time to review, direct or guide teams to improve the quality of our releases."

"People like Plutora. The adoption ratio has increased 300% in the last three months," says Bali.

Biggest Benefits

Managers at eBay agree that Plutora has many benefits.

Less Complexity

"Everything is in one place. I don't need to go into multiple places and search for documents. But we also have a full view of what we are doing."

More Stability

"Providing a stable environment for our Internet employees is our ultimate goal at corporate IT. Using a proper release management process through Plutora, we have a more stable environment. All our teams can work more productively. That gives eBay the competitive advantage."

Conflict Prevention

"Day-to-day, I use Plutora to go through releases and resolve any environment conflicts."

Live Metrics and Reporting

"We are using Plutora metrics every day to ensure the team understands how much work has been done, where the conflict or pain points are that we have to resolve, and why we are having any failure on the way."

"Plutora reports are published across eBay for all CIO managers and VPs."

"For me, the biggest benefit of Plutora is that we haven't had any big production system incidents since we started using it. We used to have a lot of outages. As we are responsible for all the Internet applications, including Finance, HR, our intranet and all the reporting, no outages mean our employees can work without interruption. It is a huge gain."
